Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 22 June 2007.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL.                      2b) ☐ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office Action is responsive to communications filed on June 22, 2007.

Claims 26, 33 and 41 have been cancelled, claims 43-45 have been added; hence claims 21-25, 27-32, 34-40 and 42-45 are pending in the application.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 21-25, 27-32, 34-40 have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

4. Claims 21-25, 27-32, 34 and 43-45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murphy (US 6,564,380), in view of Meyers (US 7,031,931).

Regarding claims 21, 28 and 43, Murphy discloses a method implemented in at least one web server hosting a website, the method comprising:

(a) receiving uploaded video clips from a plurality of remotely located uploaders via the website (e.g., video feeds are supplied to the system and transmitted into the system's network; col. 11: lines 5-14);

(b) receiving a request via the website for at least one uploaded video clip (e.g., users log on to find what video feeds are available and request, contract for access to a desired video feed; col. 7: lines 32-35; and col. 11: lines 22-26);

Art Unit: 2152

(c) identifying a fee associated with the requested video clip (e.g., Pricing Table is used for pricing access to video feeds to requesting parties; col. 12: line 64 – col. 13: line 26);

(d) charging at least the identified fee to an account associated with an originator of the request (e.g., employs the Pricing Table and the selection contracted to generate Billing Statement to the requesting parties; col. 13: lines 37-40); and

(e) upon successfully charging account in (d), providing the originator of said request with the requested video clip and crediting uploader of the requested video clip at least a portion of the charged fee (e.g., a party has requested and contracted payment is authorized to gain access to the requested video feed. Also track the video feed titles supplied by the sources to the system and the selection contracted by the requesting parties to generate Payment Statement to the source; col. 11: lines 22-38 and col. 13: lines 27-37).

Murphy also discloses (g) providing a video clip listing to at least some users, the listing providing information including the rating, or an aggregate rating including the rating, for at least some of the uploaded video clips (e.g., the Master Feed List can be structured to maintain a list of video feeds deemed likely to be very popular, such as the “Top 100 Video of the Day”, col. 14: lines 27-30).

However, Murphy fails to teach each of the uploaders setting a fee associated with each uploaded video clip. However, since Murphy discloses that the Master Authorization Server maintain a Master Feed List of video feeds available at the local PoP servers, which is coupled to a Pricing Table for computing the price for access to be paid by content production intermediaries, and the payment to be made to the video feed sources (col. 12: lines 14-23), it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made the video feed sources setting up a fee associated with each video feed in for recouping the expenses of producing the videos and perhaps, generating a profits in order to stay in business.

Murphy also does not explicitly call for (f) allowing the originator of the request to indicate a rating of the requested video clip.

Meyers discloses (f) allowing the originator of the request to indicate a rating of the requested video clip (see abstract).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to apply Meyers' method of rating audio/video content in Murphy's system in order to recommend and/or provide users with products and services interested by other users who have similar preferences.

Regarding claims 22 and 29, Murphy-Meyers also discloses receiving additional information related to each uploaded video clip (e.g., tracking the video feed titles supplied by the sources to the system and the selection contracted by the requesting parties to generate Payment Statement to the source; Murphy, col. 13: lines 27-37).

Regarding claims 23 and 30, Murphy-Meyers also discloses the additional information is used to match user requests for video clips (e.g., the Master server can provide user function such as search and query to assist with finding desired video feeds or allow users to profile the types of feeds they might want to access, or permit a viewer to select a movie, video, or audio program from a list of available titles ; Murphy, col. 12: lines 28-34 and col. 13: line 52-55).

Art Unit: 2152

Regarding claims 24 and 31, Murphy-Meyers also discloses the video clip is in a format selected from the group consisting of: AVI, MPEG-1, MPEG-2, WMV, FLIC, multi-pate TIFF, or animated GIF (Murphy, col. 6: lines 52-63).

Regarding claims 25 and 32, Murphy-Meyers also discloses the provided video clip in (c) is viewable only for a pre-set time limit (e.g., Live Video Feeds are only available at scheduled dates and times for the event; Murphy, col. 12: lines 35-45).

Regarding claims 27 and 34, Murphy-Meyers also discloses the uploaded video clips are with a pre-set size-limit (e.g., pricing can be calculated based on feed length; Murphy, col. 13: lines 5-7).

Regarding claims 44-45, Murphy-Meyers also discloses the additional information comprises one or more types of information selected from the group consisting of level information, title information, and description information (e.g., video feed titles supplied by the source to the system are tracked; col. 13: lines 27-37).

5. Claims 36-40 and 42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murphy (US 6,564,380), in view of Bartholomew (US 7,069,310).

Regarding claim 36, Murphy discloses a method to upload video clips for viewing and rating by a plurality of viewers comprising:

Art Unit: 2152

(a) accessing a website over a network (e.g., users log on to find what video feeds are available and request, contract for access to a desired video feed; col. 7: lines 32-35; and col. 11: lines 22-26);

(b) providing a title and description of the video clip to be uploaded (e.g., the Master server can provide user function such as search and query to assist with finding desired video feeds or allow users to profile the types of feeds they might want to access, or permit a viewer to select a movie, video, or audio program from a list of available titles; col. 12: lines 28-34 and col. 13: line 52-55);

(c) setting a fee associated with the video clip to be uploaded (e.g., Pricing Table is used for pricing access to video feeds to requesting parties; col. 12: line 64 – col. 13: line 26); and

(d) uploading the video clip onto a server associated with the website;

wherein the uploaded video clip is sold to other users accessing the website by charging users at least the set fee, with at least a portion of the charged fees credited to uploader of the video clip (e.g., a party has requested and contracted payment is authorized to gain access to the requested video feed. Also track the video feed titles supplied by the sources to the system and the selection contracted by the requesting parties to generate Payment Statement to the source; col. 11: lines 22-38 and col. 13: lines 27-37).

Murphy does not explicitly call for the video clip being of a limited and predetermined size before being uploaded.

Bartholomew teaches system and method for creating and posting media files including limited and predetermined file size before uploading (col. 14: lines 57-59).

Art Unit: 2152

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to apply Bartholomew's creating and posting media files in Murphy's system in order provide a better way to create, manage and disseminate media files.

Regarding claim 37, Murphy-Bartholomew also discloses the title and description information is used by the server to match user's requests for video clips (e.g., the Master server can provide user function such as search and query to assist with finding desired video feeds or allow users to profile the types of feeds they might want to access, or permit a viewer to select a movie, video, or audio program from a list of available titles; Murphy, col. 12: lines 28-34 and col. 13: lines 52-55).

Regarding claim 38, Murphy-Bartholomew also discloses the video clip is any of the following formats: AVI, MPEP-1, MPEG-2, WMV, FLIC, multi-pate TIFF, or animated GIF (Murphy, col. 6: lines 52-63).

Regarding claim 39, Murphy-Bartholomew also discloses the sold video clips are viewable only for a pre-set time limit (e.g., Live Video Feeds are only available at scheduled dates and times for the event; Murphy, col. 12: lines 35-45).

Regarding claim 40, Murphy-Bartholomew also discloses receiving and storing a viewer rating associated with a sold video clip (e.g., "Top 100 Videos of the Day; Murphy, col. 14: lines 27-46).

Art Unit: 2152

Regarding claim 42, Murphy-Bartholomew also discloses the sold video clip is presented to other viewers with the rating (e.g., the Master Feed List, which is available to users, can be structured to maintain a list of video feeds deemed likely to be very popular, such as the “Top 100 Video of the Day”, Murphy, col. 14: lines 27-30).

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
